

G.S. Jangid Teachers Training College for Women

The G.S. Jangid group of institutions has been established with the objectives to provide education par excellence. The objective has been to take on the responsibility of shaping a child to become a disciplined responsible and mature person. To attain this purpose in the field of education, the first school was established in Mumbai in 2000, followed in Nasik and the third in Jodhpur. Is to provide high quality educational service to its students and through our holistic education to produce young people of whom any family school or nation could be proud.
